Place – Kutch

India's largest district, Kutch (Kachchh), is situated on the western most edge of the state of Gujarat. Today Kutch is well known for its rich cultural heritage, diverse communities and fine handicrafts. Almost 50% of Kutch's land is the Great Rann (salt desert) of Kutch (Kachchh). More than 950 small villages are found on the edges of the Rann and in the lush lands near Bhuj, Nakhatrana and Mandvi. Today's population of Kutch (Kachchh) is 1.2 million many of whom are cattle and buffalo farmers, goat and sheep herders and camel breeders. Other people work in the towns or in the new industries of Kutch.

Our team's vision is "Entrepreneurs are not born but can be identified trained & created through intensive training." We emphasize more on Women empowerment therefore, we select Women's batch for EDP training.
