THE ART OF MULTITASKING

It has generally been held that women, by their nature, encourage more collaboration and consultation than their male counterparts. Women value relationship building and collaboration, which is essential for management. Women will often collaborate with their peers to strengthen their team, and they will work with customers to make sure they are connected and dialed into the company's products or services.

Considering these inbuilt qualities that a woman possesses & how these can be leveraged into their business, we, at CED, decided to organize a program covering these aspects.

A Human Resource Development program was organized on our YouTube Channel for exclusively women on the topic "Champion of Multitasking and Relation Management". The varied topics covered under this were as follows:

Woman possessing the art of Multitasking

Strong will power to face challenges than men

Successful Women Entrepreneurs

Problem Solving Attitude

Willingness & techniques of Relation Management

150+ PARTICIPANTS WERE A PART OF THIS PROGRAM
